

Leandro Azin

WINEMAKER

Leando is one of Argentina's "great winemakers to watch," and is creating exceptional quality wines embodied with passion. He is part of a movement of younger winemakers at the helm of great Malbec and Cabernet Sauvignon regionality coming from Mendoza.

He is from the Godoy Cruz province of Mendoza and holds a degree in Oenology from Juan Agustin Maza University. In his early wine career Leandro worked harvests and assisted with winemaking at Trapiche (Penaflor Group), Chandon Argentina and Fecovita. He has also worked abroad as a consulting winemaker for Dondon Estate Winery in Maryland along with two harvest seasons in Sonoma, California.

Leandro was the Second Winemaker & Production Manager at Cuvelier de Los Andes SA Winery (part of the Clos de Los Siete Group), where he had started as a Junior Winemaker and strengthened his knowledge and passion for fine wines under the mentorship of Adrian Manchon. Prior to his role as Winemaker at Casarena Estate, Leandro worked as the first winemaker at Bodega Augusto Pulenta SA.

In his free time, Leandro enjoys cooking for friends and playing roller hockey.
