

October 31, 2006

Excerpt from pg 57

"Malbec is the new big red on the block, though it has a long history.... In the past few years, it has become South America's leading red varietal, offering both the pleasure of its up-front richness as well as nuances that can only come from terroir... Argentina's Malbecs are on the cutting edge of quality."

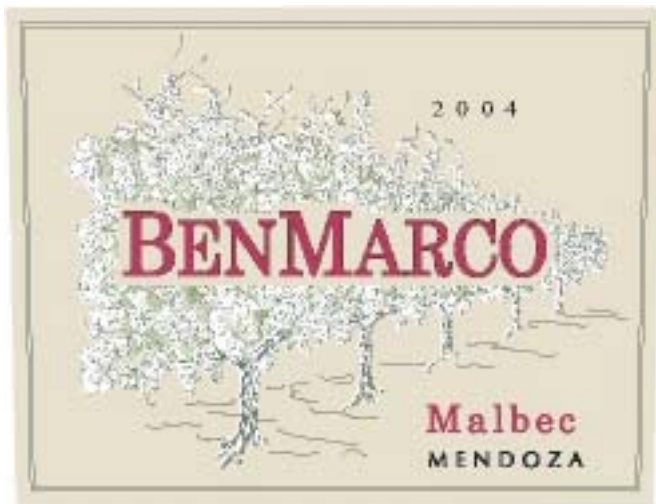

Wine Spectator
www.winespectator.com

Great Wine Values

100 Wines That Score 88 to 94 Points
And Cost $25 or Less

PLUS:
BEST FOOD MATCHES

Sleek Alsace Whites
Bold Tuscan Reds
Exploring Italy's Wild West
More Than 1,650 Wines Rated

90 POINTS

Dominio del Plata
BenMarco Malbec 2004

Concentrated, with lots of raspberry and red currant supported by modest toast and mineral notes.