

Marcelo Pino

Sommelier & Ambassador, Casa Silva

Marcelo began his career in wine after studying gastronomy and working as a chef at the Ritz-Carlton in Santiago, Chile. Soon after he entered the Escuela de Sommeliers in Chile and found his deep passion for wine. His talents soon brought him to the competition stage where he has placed in many international tasting contests, including the ASI Contest for the Best Sommelier in the World.

In 2010 Marcelo started as the Lead Sommelier and Ambassador role at Viña Casa Silva in the Colchagua Valley of Chile. As he travels the world representing and educating about the wines of Casa Silva, Marcelo also works as a taster and panelist on Chile's biggest wine magazine La Cav and teaches at the Escuela de Sommeliers in Santiago.

Marcelo grew up in the coastal beachtown of Pichilemu, Chile where he learned how to cook and professionally surf. Marcelo also just opened up his own wine shop and wine bar in Pichilemu called Marcelo Pino Sommelier.
