OVERVIEW

ABOUT THE WINE

Seta, which means "silk," is a wonderfully approachable Super Tuscan that pays homage to the Grignano family's deep connections to the clothing business. These are some of the only Cabernet and Merlot vines grown in Rufina, and the cooler climate brings amazing tension and freshness to the wine. Seta will appeal to traditional Italian wine lovers, along with drinkers who typically buy wine from places like California or Bordeaux. Its everyday price point makes it the perfect pizza wine!

WINERY BACKGROUND

Grignano is one of just 20 wineries in Chianti Rufina, an area known to produce distinctive, elegant, and age worthy wines due to its high elevation and limestone-rich soils. The Inghirami family owns and farms 54 hectares of certified-organic vineyards, with the property extending further to include olive groves, organic farmland, and extensive woods rich in truffles and mushrooms. Grignano sits in the center of the appellation, on the hilltop across from Nipozzano and Selvapiana. Grignano has been named one of the top 100 Most Iconic Italian Wineries by Forbes two years running.

VINTAGE

HARVEST: September 5, 2024

VINTAGE NOTE: Owner Tommaso Inghirami described the 2024 vintage as "classic." There was just the right amount of rain in the spring and the summer never got too hot. "September was textbook perfect—sunny days combined with chilly nights, which is ideal for aromatic development."

SITE

The Sangiovese for SETA comes from the same vineyards as the Rufina Chianti, which are organically farmed on the family estate surrounding the former Medici palazzo. The Cabernet and Merlot are farmed nearby, creating especially bright expressions of each.

ELEVATION: 800ft

SOILS: Along with the characteristic clay, Rufina also has a higher percentage of limestone in the soil.
